'Good' Physical, Mental Condition

We Welcome More POWs

By United Press International

They came home to an America starving for Vietnam heroes—40 freed prisoners of war on Thursday, 60 more today—and received heroes' welcomes.

"It has been a long time coming, but we are finally going home — home to the greatest country in the whole wide world," said Navy Lt. Everett Alvarez, who spent 8½ years languishing in a North Vietnamese prisoner of war camp—longer than any other American.

Alvarez was shot down on one of the first American bombing raids against North Vietnam in August, 1964. He was aboard the second of three planes, each carrying 20 released POWs, which left Clark Air Base, the Philippines, today bound for Travis AFB, Calif.

The doctor in charge of the Clark hospital, Col. John W. Ord, said the "really good" physical and mental condition of the prisoners indicated that they had received the essential nutrients during their imprisonment and that their overall care "must have been good."

Only one man showed any ill effects of the "extremely enormous" appetites all the prisoners had and that individual, Ord said, had a "long-standing gall bladder problem."

For some POWs, the best medicine chest to heal the wounds of imprisonment proved to be outside the Clark Air Base hospital north of Manila.

"No organic medicine which we have received could have done more to restore our health and our faith in mankind," said a statement by the seven civilians at Clark Base, thanking the hospital staff and base residents for their welcome. The civilians were released by the Viet Cong last Monday and six of the seven flew toward the United States today.

The eighth civilian released by the Viet Cong carried another message from Indochina, symbolized by the wilted carnation he waved in front of his Vietnamese peasant garb when he arrived in San Francisco Thursday night aboard a commercial airliner.

"Peace," said Richard Waldhaus, 25, who had stayed in Saigon after release to see a Vietnamese girlfriend, and then come directly to the United States.

Departure of the 60 men today leaves only 20 of the 143 POWs freed by the Communists Monday still at "Operation Homecoming" at Clark. An Air Force spokesman said most of the 20 probably would be on a plane expected to leave Clark Saturday. He said none of the 20 were seriously ill.

Unarmed U.S. supply helicopter shot down near An Loc. Story on page 5.

"Some just take longer to process than others," he said.

Preparations already were underway for the next group of 20, expected to arrive sometime during the weekend. They are being freed early as a "gesture of goodwill" by the North Vietnamese after Dr. Henry Kissinger's trip to Hanoi last weekend.

Details of the next release from North Vietnam—there are 451 listed POWs still in captivity—are still being negotiated by the Joint Military Commission, the four-party group responsible for POW exchanges under terms of the Paris peace agreement.

For some returning POWs, reunions meant getting reacquainted. For one, however, it mean getting acquainted—with his son.

At Travis AFB, Calif., Air Force Maj. Hayden J. Lockhart for the first time met his son Hayden Jr., 7, who was born two months after the pilot was shot down over North Vietnam in 1965.

Lockhart, 32, of Alexandria, La., was caught in mid-salute by his wife and boy as he stepped off the plane ramp onto a red carpet. He tried to salute the color guard and hug his wife, Jill, at the same time.

The blonde Mrs. Lockhart then stepped back and introduced her husband to their son, nicknamed Jamie.

The major bent down and shook hands with the ramrod-stiff boy. Then the three walked arm-in-arm to a nearby lounge to get acquainted.

For another returning POW, it was the end of a long round trip.

Almost exactly eight years ago today, the day, Navy Cmdr. Robert B. Doremus left Andrews Air Force Base for Southeast Asia. He returned there Thursday night—after 7½ years in a North Vietnamese prison camp.

"We never lost faith in our country, our commander-in-chief and our fellow Americans," Doremus said.

Case of Battlefield Promotions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three Air Force sergeants who received illegal "battlefield" commissions while in a North Vietnamese prisoner of war camp will more than likely get to pin on the gold bars of second lieutenants for real eventually, military sources said today.

The Air Force already has begun consideration of the case. Sources said other POWs released with the three men Monday are pressing hard for the commissions to be made official.

"No decision has been made yet," one source said. "But it's a good bet those men will be allowed to keep their commissions. It would be foolhardy to do otherwise.

"They were, in effect, battlefield commissions. The commander senior U. S. officer in the camp said they would be considered to be lieutenants for the duration of the time they were there."

The three former POWs — T. Sgt. Arthur N. Black, 28, of Bethlehem, Pa.; M. Sgt. Arthur Cromier, 38, of Bay Shore, N. Y.; and M. Sgt. William A. Robinson, 29, of Robersonville, N. C. — were all "Jolly Green Giant" rescue helicopter crewmen shot down and captured in 1965.

Imprisoned in the same camp, where they were the only enlisted men, they showed such strong leadership qualities that the officers interned with them felt they, too, should be officers. Their "commissions" were conferred by Air Force Col. John P. Flynn, the camp's senior officer.

But Black, Cromier and Robinson were — and are — only enlisted men in the eyes of the Air Force. They were issued uniforms bearing the stripes of sergeants after their arrival at Clark Air Base in the Philippines, the first processing point for returning POWs.

"There is no legal basis for the senior officer of a POW camp to confer commissions during interment," an Air Force spokesman said Thursday. "The men concerned were made aware that their 'appointments' would be subject to review upon repatriation, and the families of the men concerned have been similarly advised.

"Once these men and the senior officer Flynn have been returned, all the facts of each case will be carefully considered in making a final determination in the best interests of the men involved and the Air Force."

OEO Dismantling... Administration Has Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has devised a detailed plan that calls for dismantling the Office of Economic Opportunity before Congress can come to its rescue.

(A massive protest is planned in Washington on Tuesday with supporters of the OEO programs coming in from all over the country. A bus will leave from Kingston at midnight, Monday from the Rondout Neighborhood Center at Broadway and Spring Street.

Two weeks ago, Louis Grimaldi, executive director of the Ulster County Community Action Committee, resigned stating that the demise of OEO was all but certain. UCCAC Inc. administers OEO programs in Ulster County. Those programs are now on a month to month funding basis, awaiting final word from Congress on Nixon's proposal.)

The elaborate strategy, listing arguments the administration should use to support its case, the people in Congress it should work with and the obstacles it can expect to face, urges "completing the disagreeable business as soon as possible."

"The more delay, the more opportunity for congressional opposition to gather and develop a legislative counter-strategy," says the paper, which was prepared by the OEO's technical staff. A copy has been made available to The Associated Press.

Entitled "Congressional Strategy on OEO," the paper advises against a clash over constitutional powers with Congress, which last year extended the OEO and its many programs through fiscal 1974.

President Nixon's budget for fiscal 1974 calls for ending federal support for Community Action—the main OEO-sponsored antipoverty program—and scattering its remaining programs among other agencies.

"A constitutional confrontation may be where the administration is most vulnerable ...," the staff paper says. "The opposition can claim that there is clear law and intent that there be an OEO and a Community-Action Program."

Instead, the paper advises, the administration should try to get support for cutting off OEO funds in the House and Senate Appropriations committees, "whose interests most closely align with the Presidents', and, which ... have few members with strong feelings for OEO."

At the same time, the paper says, the administration should try to delay congressional action on the over-all budget for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare, forcing them to be financed by special resolutions in which OEO could be isolated.

The administration also issued sweeping proposals today to narrow the range of social services, such as child care and support of the mentally retarded, that states provide with federal matching funds to keep people off welfare roles.

States currently can draw $3 from the treasury for every dollar they spend within a $2.5 billion national ceiling fixed by Congress last year for child care, family planning, job training, drug and alcohol treatment and for other services for children, poor families, the aged and handicapped.

The proposed regulations would narrow the eligibility requirements for services and would make three categories of services for needy families mandatory — family planning, foster care and protective services for neglected or abused children.

No services would be required for aged, blind or disabled welfare recipients, but states would have the option of providing for such services.

Under current rules most services for welfare families are optional but some must be provided by the states, including child care, services for health needs, prevention or reduction of illegitimate births, vocational rehabilitation and work training.

'Devaluation a Major Crisis' ...Fish

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON — Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. (R-25th) termed the recent devaluation of the U.S. dollar "a new and major crisis," and said some basis changes in the American economic system would have to be implemented to keep the United States competitive with foreign industrial powers.

Addressing the monthly breakfast meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of Ulster County today, the Millbrook Republican touched on a wide range of economic and legislative issues, but said this week's devaluation of the dollar "overshadows" all other domestic matters.

Fish said "Those days are gone forever, or at least for the foreseeable future" when the U. S. dollar was the "single, solvent standard" against which all other countries measured their economy. And, he said that those days are past, too, when "all other nations measured their own products with ours."

To meet this newest economic crisis, Fish said American industry and labor must produce a higher quality product that will be competitive with foreign goods, and urged the American people "to put more of ourselves into the production of our goods."

The third term congressman also commented on President Nixon's impounding of already-appropriated funds, but said Congress "shares the blame" because of an "archaic" budget review system. "I, too, feel the sting," said Fish, "but much of the criticism (against congress) is justified."

As a corrective measure, Fish said he supports legislation that would enable congress to review funds that are impounded. He said that such a procedure would "let us take a second look" at what might have been "hurried, self-serving legislation."

Fish drew a correlation between America's need for a more competitive posture in foreign trade and the current domestic energy crises that has taken on increased importance. He termed the energy crisis "severe;" said the day may come when the U.S. will have to import all of its fuel oil; and suggested that Americans may have to "tighten our belts while we explore new sources of energy."

In response to a question from the audience, Fish reiterated his belief that the consumer, and not the federal government, should bear the cost for protecting the environment. "We've paid the price of dead lakes, eroded hillsides and polluted air and water," said Fish, "The people must finally come to grips with the problem." He said he doesn't believe in a punitive approach to the industrial pollution problem and suggested, instead, that heavy industry be "encouraged," possibly through tax incentives, to do its part in cleaning the environment.

Armed Guards at Airports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Faced with $1,000 a day fines if they don't comply with a government order, 531 airports around the nation today posted some 4,500 armed guards at airport boarding gates to thwart hijackers.

The court battle over the armed guard program ended Thursday when a three judge panel of the U.S. District Court of Appeals refused to continue an earlier lower court order blocking the government's anti-hijacking program.

But the panel did attach conditions to its order. The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) was not allowed to fine any airport which attempted "in good faith" to meet the armed guard requirement.

The agency was also required to hold hearings on complaints from airport operators about inability to provide the guards. The court also ordered the government to continue the use of federal security police at airports unable to provide a full complement of guards at all airport boarding gates.

The security program is a massive undertaking. The nation's airlines average 15,000 flights a day and carry some 300,000 passengers in a fleet of 2,200 jetliners.

The airport operators, who told the court the government did not allow enough time to comply with its order for armed guards, must have the guards in place to support an earlier government order requiring the airlines to electronically screen all passengers and inspect carry-on luggage.

The airport operators expect the armed guard program to cost $57 million a year.

Under the FAA proposal, the guards would be in place Feb. 5. But the U.S. District Court granted a 10-day restraining order. The lower court, however, refused to extend the stay, and the airport operators appealed the decision but lost the fight when a special three judge court Thursday refused to grant further delay.

The FAA's assistant general counsel, J. Thomas Tidd, said the agency already was complying with the conditions outlined by the court, and he did not expect any major problems at the airports.

Under law, the FAA can fine any airport operator $1,000 a day until he conforms to the government's regulations.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear father and our grandfather, Vernon Beatty, who passed away one year ago, Feb. 16, 1972.

You only have one father,
Patient kind and true.

Johnston Resigns Landmarks Post

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

Fred C. Johnston, chairman of the Landmarks Preservation Commission, has resigned, citing the Common Council's refusal to designate the 208-year old Jacobus Bruyn Building on North Front Street as an historic site, The Freeman learned today.

Johnston, wintering in Florida, contacted Mayor Francis R. Koenig by telephone last week and tendered his resignation.

"I don't consider him resigned," the mayor told The Freeman today. "It isn't official until I receive it in writing."

The Council rejected the designation of the Bruyn House as an historic landmark at its Feb. 6 meeting because in the opinion of the majority of the aldermen the building had reached such an advanced state of deterioration that only large sums of money would save it.

Johnston, contacted by The Freeman today, said it would take "about $100,000" to restore the building, but that the key to securing the funds would be the building's designation. "We can't get the money unless the building is designated," Johnston said. "You can't get money unless you can assure (prospective) donators that the building will stay there."

The Bruyn House, built in 1765, was burned by the British in 1777 and later purchased by Col. Jacobus Bruyn of Revolutionary War fame. Johnston said that at one time, the Bruyn House and its gardens "were the pride of the entire city."

Johnston said he is also resigning as vice chairman of the Bi-Centennial Commission and the City Beautification Commission.

"I think we've done a great deal for our city," Johnston said, referring to the Landmarks Commission. "If it hadn't been for Landmarks we wouldn't have a new park at the Senate House, we wouldn't have saved Clinton Avenue or the Clinton House, we wouldn't have a mini-park in front of the parking structure. We designated 35 buildings in the Stockade area.

"As far as the remaining six members of the Commission, Johnston said, "We have very competent people on the commission. "I hope it continues. We don't want it destroyed."

The commission will meet in regular session next Thursday night at the Savings and Loan Association on Wall Street. The possibility of more resignations has not been ruled out.

City GOP Eyes Reapport

KINGSTON

City Republican candidates will be "running with new vigor and direction," GOP Chairman Frank Fabbie said today following Thursday night's meeting of the city committee.

Which direction is still not certain as reapportionment of the city's 13 wards is still a mute issue. Fabbie appointed Legislators Harry C. Kapreilian and Clarence Raichle to head a reapportionment committee. "We will be offering a plan as soon as possible," Fabbie said. Former Alderman John L. Machione is also on the committee. In addition, Machione will be advising the city committee on "issues" facing the Common Council.

Marshall Lipton, a city attorney, will serve as legal counsel to the city committee and to the Republican minority in the Common Council, Fabbie announced.

James B. Thompson, a former news director at Station WGHQ and Joseph J. Kelly, a former Freeman city editor and a former alderman-at-large will serve as public information coordinators for the city committee.

The next meeting is scheduled for March 14 at the Ulster County Courthouse.

Added Police Funds Voted in Rosendale

ROSENDALE

Due to unanticipated expenditures for additional equipment and repair work on the Village of Rosendale police car, the village board Thursday night voted to transfer an additional $1,000 from general funds to the police budget.

Mayor Carl Grassi said that in order to keep the department functional the additional funds were needed. The original police budget was $5,800.

There was also discussion at the meeting of putting in a new water main on Creek Locks Road at the suggestion of a resident. At present there in no water main on the road. Mayor Grassi said no action on the matter is anticipated in the immediate future as the construction would deplete the budget for the water supply system.

Approximately four people had questions concerning their property assessments as Grievance Day for the villabe was held between the hours of 4 and 8 p.m. at the village hall.

Ellenville Project...Delay Looms

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE

The public housing project in Ellenville, whose history is already turbulent and complicated, may suffer an 18-month delay, unless intervention by Congressman Howard Robison (R-27) is successful.

Gordon Kent, chairman of the Ellenville Housing Authority, said Thursday that the project, 30 units of senior ciitzen housing and 40 units of low and moderate income housing, does not meet the deadline set by the recent administration decree imposing an 18-month moratorium on most federally assisted housing.

Kent said the decree specified that the preliminary loan agreement for a project had to be signed by Jan. 5 of this year, or the project fell under the mortorium. The Ellenville loan agreement has not yet been signed.

The preliminary loan agreement between the local authority and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development which authorizes the local authority to set up an office and begin paying any bills it has incurred.

The holdup in getting the agreement signed appears to be the fault of HUD. Kent said he received a telegram from New York Senators Jacob Javits and James Buckley in Nov. 1971, saying that $14,000 was ready for the local Ellenville authority as soon as an agreement was signed. Kent said all the paperwork was sent to the New York City HUD office, but no action has yet been taken, after about 14 months.

Kent said the housin project had already incurred about $1,000 in debts, for such things as legal advertising, and he did not know who would pay the debts if the project went under the 18-month moratorium.

Robison's Washington office said the congressman was particularly interested in housing matters, and felt that there was an urgent need for housing for the elderly and for flood victims, both of which are affected by the Administration moratorium.

According to the Robison spokesman, HUD has indicated there might be "special circumstances" under which a project might be funded even if it missed the Jan. 5 deadline. The moratorium regulations are "not completely set in concrete," according to the spokesman.

According to the Robison spokesman, Kent was asked to send Robison a letter documenting the circumstances surrounding the failure of the Ellenville project to get its preliminary loan agreement signed in time, including a reported physical loss of the paperwork by the New York HUD office.

Kent said he had received no formal word from HUD that the Ellenville project was subject to the moratorium, and he had been told that several projects were in the same situation that Ellenville was in. Kent said he was "hoping" there would be no problems, "since the project is so far advanced."

U.S. Supply Helicopter Downed Near An Loc

SAIGON (UPI) — An unarmed U.S. supply helicopter on loan to the peace-keeping Joint Military Commission was shot down and burst into flames today near An Loc. Field reports said all five of its crewmen were injured, two seriously.

U.S. military sources said the CH47 Chinook, on temporary assignment to the four-party commission, did not carry arms or the distinguishing orange zebra stripes of the JMC on its nose and fuselage. They said it was ferrying material for a field headquarters under construction at An Loc, a provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon.

Field reports said the chopper went down in flames in the jungle seven miles south of An Loc and one report said the craft was riddled with machine-gun fire all the way down to the ground. The identity of the gunners was not known.

A U.S. medical evacuation helicopter, also unarmed, picked up the crewmen while small arms fire was still crackling and flew them to the U.S. Army 3rd Field Hospital on the outskirts of Saigon.

It was the third U.S. helicopter reported shot down since the Vietnam cease-fire took effect Jan. 28. The first two were downed the first day of the truce and four crewmen were wounded. One of them died later to become the last American killed in Vietnam combat thus far.

In ground action, the Saigon command said fighting across the country dropped to its lowest level in eight days with 151 alleged truce violations by Communist troops in the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. today—the fewest since 120 were reported Feb. 3.

In the heaviest fighting, the command said 60 Communists were killed in 40-minute battle with government militia and armored units six miles west of Kontum. The command said South Vietnamese casualties were unknown.

JMC sources said fighting broke out today when several thousand Roman Catholic refugees who fled North Vietnam after the Geneva truce of 1954 demonstrated at the commission regional compound at Bien Hoa.

The sources said South Vietnamese authorities dispatched a battalion of military police to the site, 14 miles north of Saigon, to restore order.

Within the JMC, Communist delegates protested the absence of the allied delegate leaders at today's meeting of the body's chiefs. Lt. Gen. Tran Van Tra, chief of the Viet Cong delegation, filed the protest and the North Vietnamese backed him up.

U.S. sources said Maj. Gen. Gilbert H. Woodward, the U.S. delegate, was ill. There was no explanation for the absence of the Saigon representative, Lt. Gen. Du Quoc Cong.

Meanwhile Nixon continues his preoccupation with post-war development in Indochina today by summoning his Cabinet for a briefing on the subject.

Scheduled to give the briefing was Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who returned at the end of last week from a 13-day tour of eight Asian nations, during which Agnew discussed the postwar American posture in the region.

Before going to the Pentagon, Nixon told reporters at a picture-taking session at the White House that the Vietnam settlement prevented erosion of confidence by allies in the dependability of the United States.

He said that in the perspective of history critics of his bombing campaign against North Vietnam will realize that "instead of taking the easy way out" and ending the war in 1969 when he became President, he could have destroyed allied confidence in the United States "and might have enormously encouraged aggressors."

Nixon said the United States should not sink into isolation in the aftermath of Vietnam.

Russian Missile Firing...A Puzzle

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. experts are puzzling over an extraordinary series of eight Russian test-firings of intercontinental-range missiles from the same launch base within about two weeks.

These experts suggested the Soviets may be checking the reliability of combat-rated SS11 missiles after a launch failure in late December.

Intelligence sources said the eight ICBMs were fired about 1,200 miles from a complex at Svobodnyy to the Kamchiatka Peninsula. The firings began in late January and ended last weekend.

The missiles traveled only about one-quarter of their maximum range. The Soviets often send SS11s and other missiles over limited distances for tests entirely within Russian territory.

Unlike full-range tests into the Pacific, the Russians make no public mention of shots wholly within their borders. But U.S. reconnaissance satellites closely monitor firings inside Russia.

Some intelligence analysts say the eight tests in a row from an operational base may reflect Soviet command concern over the efficiency of military launch teams. These analysts say Russian leaders may have decided to put their crews through a fresh training course.

The SS11, similar to the U.S. Minuteman ICBM, is a major weapon in Russia's nuclear arsenal. The Russians have deployed about 970 of them.

Sensors aboard U.S. reconnaissance satellites indicated the SS11s in the recent series carried only single warheads.

The Russians have tested SS11s armed with triple warheads that can be fired in shotgun fashion. But U.S. officials say the Soviets have not yet mastered the technique of aiming multiple warheads at separate targets.

Jefferson Davis Dropped

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas senators who wanted to create a state holiday in honor of the late Lyndon B. Johnson but had to eliminate an existing holiday to make room, decided Thursday Jefferson Davis would be sacrificed.

The Senate voted 29-0 to make Aug. 27, former President Johnson's birthday, a state holiday and eliminate the birthday of Confederate President Davis, June 3. But not without some debate beforehand.

"You mean we're not going to observe Jefferson Davis' birthday anymore?" asked Sen. O. H. Harris.

"Jefferson Davis wasn't a Texan," said Sen. Tom Creighton.

"Some of us revere Jefferson Davis," Harris said. "I would suspect you'd get more support if you left that holiday in and created a new one (for Johnson)."

But the senators decided the cost of adding another holiday to the calendar would cost too much—$4 million.

"We felt that if any holiday was to be eliminated, this would be he least objectionable," said Sen. Jack Oggn. Finally, Harris gave in and voted with the majority.

Penn Central Strike

Is the Penn Central strike deliberately provoked by the trustees of the corporation to precipitate a crisis and force the federal government to bail it out of its financial problems, as a union spokesman charges?

Or is it necessary to survival of the nation's largest railroad to cut crews from three to two men, as the corporation started to do unilaterally after a 30-day cooling off period failed to produce any agreement?

Congress moved swiftly to start the trains rolling again, with a bill that provided for operation for 90 days while negotiations are resumed. Freight and passenger traffic in 16 Eastern and Midwestern states were resumed with no change permitted in the size of the crews during the new negotiations.

Congress added something new in its measure. It required that a way must be worked out to keep the trains rolling after the 90 days expire. The breakdown in the negotiations came after Labor Department officials concluded that there was a "classic impasse" with no room left "for trading by either side."

If that impasse continues, then it will corroborate the union charge that the strike will force the federal government to bail out this, the nation's biggest railroad, and temporary public operation may come. After two and a half years, the line has been in bankruptcy, and cumulative losses of more than a billion dollars have been incurred. Obviously, something more than the solution of the strike must be done to keep the jobs open for all workers.

First of all, the compulsory arbitration measure which was near passage a year ago should be revived and passed. Transportation must not be subject to continuous interruption over labor disputes. Then the nation must decide whether public operation is necessary until it can be either restored to the owners or turned over to public ownership and operation. The time for fooling is over. A real solution is long past due.

R.O.T.C. Funds

A privately sponsored three-year program to enrich the Reserve Officers Training Corps around the country has helped to enlighten the officer candidates in foreign affairs, the economics of national security and the need for the military to be responsive to a changing society.

The program was initiated by the National Strategy Information Center, associated with New York University, which is concerned with studies which improve military strategy through an understanding of international relations and economics. Most of the money, a $240,000 fund, came from the Carthage Foundation of Pittsburgh, founded by the Mellon family.

Now that the program has been tried and found useful, the Carthage Foundation is moving on to other things and the enrichment of the R.O.T.C. The R.O.T.C. is looking for a sponsor. It hopes for rescue by the Defense Department, which is the ultimate beneficiary due to the higher grade of officers it helps develop.

Those involved in the R.O.T.C. program point out that the Defense Department allocates only $100,000 for R.O.T.C., which produces about 13,000 officers a year. That is an unbelievably low figure. Quick research failed to confirm or reject it. The scholarships granted R.O.T.C. candidates run into many times that, certainly.

Be that as it may, if the Defense Department were to decide that the enrichment program is valuable to the R.O.T.C., it could no doubt finance it. Since it does not, some schools have found the solution of having their own faculty volunteer to give the lectures. This plan of enrichment should be extended to all schools in the country where R.O.T.C. continues. It will make the program much more interesting for its enrollees.

MODERN ART FROM LENINGRAD —A group of 41 Impressionist and Post-Impressionist paintings lent by museums at Leningrad and Moscow will be exhibited by the National Gallery of Art from March 31 to April 29 in Washington. They include works by Cezanne, Matisse, Gauguin, Picasso, Van Gough and others.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Despite warnings that the leopard-spot truce in South Vietnam is impossible to defend and that a military takeover by the Communists is inevitable, President Nixon is determined to preserve the fragile peace he has fashioned.

He hopes to persuade Hanoi to adopt political means to achieve the goal of reunification. In return, he is prepared to help the North Vietnamese rebuild their country.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Preserving the Fragile Peace

The President has told associates privately that he expects Vietnam to become reunited in a few years. With this in mind, his objective is three-fold: (1) to keep the reunification process political and, therefore, peaceful; (2) to gain Hanoi's trust by offering generous relief and rehabilitation; and (3) to encourage North Vietnam to remain independent of China, Russia and the United States alike.

The President foresees a Yugoslavia-like North Vietnam that will become less hostile as it grows more independent. He is ready to make a huge investment in this theory by providing ample aid, so Hanoi won't have to be dependent upon China and Russia.

It will be worth the cost, the President contends, if peace can be preserved in Indochina. For a renewal of the conflict and a military takeover by the Communists, he fears, would cause bitter recriminations and deep divisions among the American people.

"Row, Damit, Row!"

Footnote: The President was also pleased with Vice President Agnew's report on his consultations with Southeast Asian leaders. Agnew came home convinced there won't be any repetition Asian countries.

President Nixon has set friends straight about his views on politics and personalities. In private conversations, he has made these points:

— He doesn't favor former Treasury Secretary John Connally over Vice President Spiro Agnew as his successor but has encouraged both men to seek the presidential nomination. The President indicated he would wait until the verdict of the primaries before he will make his choice. Those privy to his views suspect that the President will withhold his endorsement until the last minute in order to maintain political leverage.

— The President is pleased with Bill Rogers' performance as secretary of state and won't replace him with Connally or anyone else as long as Rogers wants the job. Rogers has acted as a buffer between Congress and the White House, leaving the President and Henry Kissinger free to formulate foreign policy with a minumum of congressional interference. This is precisely, smiled the President, what he asked Rogers to do. Our sources came away with the impression, however, that Rogers could have the next Supreme Court appointment if he would like.

— Contrary to press speculation, the President never became disenchanted with Henry Kissinger during the agonizing last days of the peace negotiations. Kissinger handled the negotiations superbly and never made a move without authorization, said the President.

Under the Dome

The cornerstone of Congress, the committee system, is in need of overhaul. No problem is too large or too small to be shunted to some committee. There's even a committee on the beauty shop, a committee on parking, a committee on restaurants and, of course, a committee on committees . . . Four freshmen congressmen took an experimental four-week cram course at Harvard last December to prepare themselves for Congress. They were Yvonne Brathwaite Burke, D-Calif.; Bill Cohen, R-Me.; Barbara Jordan, D-Tex., and Alan Steelman, R-Tex. . . .

The eager Mrs. Burke, on her way to her first roll call, lost her way in the Capitol's basement and had to ask a TV crew how to get to the House floor . . . The boyish looking Cohen, since his arrival on Capitol Hill, has been mistaken as an elevator operator and a House pageboy . . . South Dakota's Sen. Jim Abourezk frequently goes to public gatherings wearing a badge identifying him as Otto Schmink. Explains Abourezk: "I believe people will talk more frankly with Otto Schmink, average citizen, than with Jim Abourezk, U.S. senator . . . Missouri's Rep. Jerry Litton, nervous after firing a new case worker, changed all the locks on his office doors and ordered Capitol guards to watch his office at night.

On the Right

A Just Punishment

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

Time and again we see political liberals struggling to uncoil themselves from measures they are primarily responsible for having constricted themselves in. There is no better example than the recent recommendation of Governor Nelson Rockefeller, now being hotly debated, that drug pushers be sentenced to life in prison without the possibility of parole. The Governor is in this bind, of course, because of his doctrinaire opposition to capital punishment.

If one defers to the commandment that under no circumstances should the state execute a convicted man, then of course the question is closed, and there is no point in arguing the case. But those who are dogmatically opposed to capital punishment are not entitled to reason that they have opposed the cruelest act a state is capable of committing.

Surely the proposal of Nelson Rockefeller is more cruel to an offender than anything an executioner does to him. And those who in opposing capital punishment lay special stress on the awful effect of executions on society should pause. Surely it demeans a society more to rule that under no circumstance whatsoever will society forgive a man, at any point in the future, than to excute him. An execution causes the society that sanctioned it to wince. External incarceration, other than for the purpose of protecting society against an unrehabilitatable criminal, causes society — or should — nothing less than an encephalaphonic cry of the heart.

It is instructive to recall that the mood, when Leopold and Loeb were convicted, was in favor of executing them. They had committed a crime against an innocent little boy which was, quite simply, unpardonable. The judge, yielding to the entreaties of a very persuasive attorney, ruled instead that because of their tender age he would sentence them to life plus life — that he would throw away the key. Thus did he appease the public. But as the years went by, Loeb died in prison, and then Leopold, after a dozen appeals for clemency, finally received parole, went off to do medical missionary work in Puerto Rico, and in due course died.

It was right to let Leopold go, finally. It is anti-human to proscribe compassion; to say to oneself — I forbid forgiveness, and I enjoin my successors to forbid forgiveness; indeed, I call on the legislature to deprive my successors of the executive privilege to commute a sentence.

And yet one's heart cries out also for means by which to express oneself on the hideousness of the trade by which the pusher makes his living (and sates his habit). Nelson Rockefeller has tried to situate the crime of peddling heroin where it belongs — as among the most heinous of human professions. Having eliminated the death penalty, he wishes to prescribe the most horrible thing this side of the death penalty. He has succeeded only in prescribing something more horrible than the death penalty.

The legislature in Albany would do well, of course, to attempt to make the working distinction between the professional pusher and the pusher who is driven only by the desperation of his own craving. Granted the line blurs, and granted also that some in the latter category graduate into the former. But even as he recognizes there are differences between murder as a crime of passion, and murder for hire, there are analogous differences among dope pushers. The emphasis should be made on reasonably distinguishing between the two: perhaps the cash volume of the transaction is the best test. A jury is probably the most competent judge, in any case. And then, the professionals should be sentenced to death.

One shrinks from the medieval concern to design modes of death particularly appropriate to the crime of the offender. Such literature is appealing mostly to those who get their kicks out of reading books like "The Torture Garden." But it is not, I should think, inappropriate to suggest that a condign means of ridding the world of convicted heroin pushers is to prescribe an overdose. It happens that it is a humane way of dying, if one defines humane as relatively painless. And, of course, there is a rabbinical satisfaction in the idea that the pusher should leave this world in such circumstances as he has caused others to leave it, excepting this, that the pusher's last days, in the shelter of death house, would be infinitely more pleasant than the last days of those whom he has, by the practice of his profession, tortured to death.

The Rabbi and His Boy

There is always competition between a scholarly father and an intelligent son. It usually begins as a battle for respect — the father demanding it, the son trying to earn it. Eventually, it is the father who must surrender because, in any fair contest, he will be beaten by time, not by his boy.

So it was with Rabbi Steinberg. He came to America from the frozen steppes of Russia and chose the snow-white tablecloth of Winnipeg, Canada, as a place to settle and preach. Rabbi Steinberg was more than a rabbinical scholar; he was a philosopher; a perennial student of mankind.

He arrived in America with the fixed opinion that Gentiles, though intelligent, sell their children for whiskey. It required time and a lot of brotherhood meetings to erase this from his mind.

The rabbi had three children, two boys and a girl. His rheumy brown eyes turned full on the little one, David. To that one, special by the grace of God, he spoke only in Hebrew. The boy grew up thinking it was his native tongue.

In David the father saw a precious quality, a mind like a blotter absorbing everything at once; a mischievous twinkle the old man didn't like; an ability to mimic the world around him and to laugh at it.

David was so super-smart that he wasn't sure he believed in anything. He won a scholarship at the Hebrew Theological College in Chicago and spent a year in Jerusalem studying Hebrew literature. He then went to the University of Chicago and won his master's degree in English before he knew how to use it. The old man was sure he had a wise head on a young boy, a future rabbi for sure.

Did he become a rabbi? He joined the Second City Company and studied to become a comedian. No matter where he went, he received long letters from his father. "They" were always Gentiles. "They got their snow for Christmas." The letters, of course, were in Hebrew.

David took an apartment with a girl. His mother knew nothing about it. Mothers, however, are fond of worrying. So she made an unannounced trip to see her son David, the comedian. He said nothing about a girl. Mother found his closet full of girl's clothes. She returned to Winnipeg and told the old rabbi that David was a transvestite.

Ten years ago, David Steinberg was acknowledged by the critics to be a shy, sophisticated comedian. They, who find easy niches for everyone, called him a cross between Lenny Bruce and Woody Allen. He isn't. He is a skimy young man with a shelf of dark hair and a big grinning mouth who makes up stories about himself and the world.

When he began to earn "good money" he brought his parents to Los Angeles. The old rabbi resigned from the temple, and walked among palm trees, in sunshine, with his hands clasped behind his back. What to do?

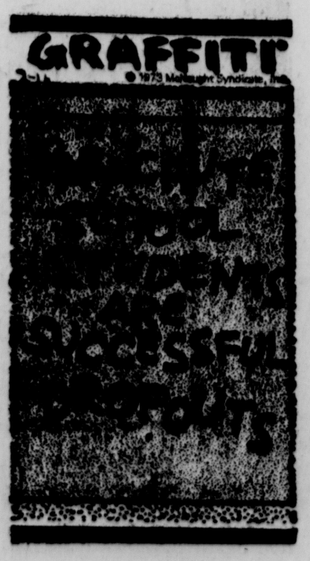

David, in a million-to-one shot, met an old rabbi who grew up in Russia with his dad. This one had a big temple in Los Angeles. The aged ones met, clasped each other, and wept a little. Rabbi Steinberg was hired as assistant. In effect, the silly son got his wise father a job.

The young man was on a Smothers Brothers show and uttered a few satirical sermons: "Moses had a great relationship with God, whom you may remember from last week's sermon." The protests were heavy. The Smothers Brothers show was cancelled.

There is a time to stay, and a time to go. Rabbi Steinberg felt that his time had arrived. He missed his son David, who traveled all over the United States, and had his name in lights. He loved the boy, as the boy loved him. And yet, the old man had to revenge himself on the son who resisted a calling to the rabbinate.

So he wrote all his letters to David in Yiddish, a language the young man didn't understand. It was necessary, sometimes, to find a friend who could help with the translation. Thus, sadly, there was a witness to the old man's warnings.

Rabbi Steinberg died. He is well remembered in Winnipeg, which celebrates its 100th birthday this year. David married a girl of Italian lineage, a convert to Judaism. Whatever reward was earned by the religious man is his in the Valhalla of his choice. Whatever tears the son must shed missing the company and wisdom of the father are still due. .

Clarification of Commission Statement

KINGSTON — The Kingston Human Rights Commission today issued a statement taking exception to several points included in the Wednesday Daily Freeman report on a press conference dealing with negotiations that are being held with the Board of Education following a Nov. 15 incident involving black students at Kingston High School.

The statement, signed by Herbert Schultz, chairman of the Kingston Human Rights Commission and Rev. John H. Gilmore, director, emphasized that the commission "does not represent members of the black community in this issue; for it is the duty of the commission to represent all people, regardless of race, creed, color, sex, age or national origin."

The statement said that the committee negotiating with the school board was selected last November by a group of conerned citizens and that Rev. Gilmore is serving on the committee as a member of the community, and not as director of the Human Rights Commission.

In addition, the statement signed by Schultz and the Rev. Gilmore says, "it should be emphasized that abolute and positive progress has been made in these meetings, and the statements made to the contrary are not accurate. Full cooperation has been received by this committee from the Board of Education and the school's administrative body."

The Human Rights Commission also contends that Rev Gilmore did not state, "hostilities many balck students feel will continue," as reported. The commission's statement maintains that Rev. Gilmore said, instead, "I cannot personally guarantee that the Nov. 15 incident will not happen again."

The commission also asserts that there is "no definite sense of urgency that will lead to a quick and constructive change, simply because the committee and the Board of Education have resolved that as long as negotiations are necessary the meetings will continue. There is no pressure from either side."

Also, said the commission, "No charges have been filed with this commission by anyone against anyone."

Fordham Buries Digger

By United Press International

The Fordham Ram officially buried "The Digger" Thursday night.

Dick "Digger" Phelps, a subject of much controversy in New York ever since he left Fordham two years ago to take the head coaching job at Notre Dame, brought his team into Madison Square Garden Thursday night to meet his former club and was treated to a rude homecoming.

The Rams, losers of six in a row, upset the Irish 70-69 on a jump shot by sophomore Darryl Brown with 12 seconds remaining and the loss all but ended Notre Dame's chances for a post-season tournament bid. The defeat left the Irish with an 11-10 mark while Fordham boosted its record to 12-10.

Notre Dame, which was considered an outside possibility for a National Invitation Tournament bid, led by eight points with 4:10 remaining but went two minutes without scoring a point as the Rams whittled the lead to two points with 1:46 to go.

With 27 seconds left to play, Brown was fouled and made the first of two shots to bring Fordham to within one point. Brown, however, missed the second shot and the game seemed lost for the Rams when Notre Dame's Gary Novak got his hands on the rebound.

But the ball slipped out of Novak's hands and went out of bounds, giving Fordham another opportunity. Brown then scored with 12 seconds left and Notre Dame's last chance for a winning basket went awry when Don Silinski missed on a 30-foot attempt.

"It's the greatest win I've ever had in coaching," said Hal Wissel, the man who succeeded Phelps at Fordham. "I compare this to the day I got married and the day my children were born. We had been playing great basketball the last few weeks and not winning. We were just hoping the breaks would start going our way. When that ball bounced off Novak's hands out of bounds I knew we were going to win."

Phelps, who left Fordham two years ago under a storm of protest since he still had four years remaining on a five-year contract, was greeted by catcalls from the majority of the 10,036 Madison Square Garden fans prior to the game but refused to comment on his relationship with Fordham.

"As far as I'm concerned the issue is dead. I am not going to get into it. It was just another game. We've won 10 of our last 14 and my only concern is that we're making progress. It was a great game for the fans despite the final score," said Phelps.

In other college action, third-ranked Long Beach State avenged an earlier loss to San Jose State 117-75, eighth-ranked Houston downed Corpus Christi 82-70, 15th-ranked Memphis State routed Wichita State 99-77, 16th-ranked Brigham Young beat Texas-ElPaso 48-43 and Louisville topped Drake 80-77.

Long Beach State, which suffered its only loss of the season at San Jose last month, got 24 points from Roscoe Poindexter and 16 rebounds from Ed Ratleff to easily defeat the Spartans this time around. The victory boosted Long Beach State's record to 20-1.

Dwight Jones scored 11 points, grabbed 16 rebounds and added five assists to spark Houston to its 11th victory in a row. The Cougars, now 18-2, blew the game open in the second half by outscoring Corpus Christi 20-10 in a 7:22 stretch.

Larry Kenon was a one-man gang for Memphis State, scoring 32 points and pulling down 22 rebounds, as the Tigers humbled Wichita State. Kenon, who now has 381 rebounds, established a Missouri Valley Conference single season rebounding record with his performance.

PRESSURE PLAY — Fordham's Frank Heyward (22) and Darryl Brown put on the pressure as Peter Crotty of Notre Dame gets off shot during game in New York City Thursday. Fordham came up with a stunning 70-69 victory in the final seconds. (UPI)

Players to Discuss Offer

NEW YORK (AP) — The 24 major league player representatives gathered today to take action on a contract offer amid charges that the owners are illegally threatening a lockout and that Marvin Miller, who heads the players union, has abandoned negotiations.

The player representives, who comprise the Executive Board of the Major League Players Association, and Miller, Executive Director of the Association, were scheduled to meet at a midtown hotel beginning at 11 a.m., EST.

Indications were strong that the Executive Board would pass on the latest offer to the full membership, an action that would take from two to three weeks and probably would push back spring training which officially opens March 1.

Miller has called the postponement of early spring training, which is by invtation of the clubs, an illegal threat of a lockout and said that if spring training does not begin March 1 it would be a lockout.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn has said that by "abandoning the bargaining table, Marvin Miller resorted to a deliberate effort to create confusion in the minds of clubs and players and the public regarding the status of negotiations."

Under negoitiation are the pension-benefit plan and the Basic Agreement, which covers relations between owners and active players.

The pension plan, a one-year agreement which expires March 31, was not seen as a stumbling block, but two points in the Basic Agreement are major issues—the reserve clause, which binds a player to a club until he is traded, released or retires, and an arbitration for individual salary disputes.

Other issues under the Basic Agreement included:

Increases in minimum salary, now $13,750, and in World Series minimums, now $10,000 for a losing player and $15,000 for a winner; the right of a player to reject a trade; improvements in unconditional-release payments; and changes in options rules.

Rangers' Hopes Are Fading

By United Press International

Only last week the New York Rangers looked invincible—so much so that there was no way they wouldn't soon end 33 years of National Hockey League frustration and finally win the Stanley Cup.

But then, as it inevitably does to the Rangers every season, the injury jinx stepped in on Sunday and two crack forwards, Vic Hadfield and Bruce MacGregor were put out of action for extended periods of time. And on the heels of that, New York's 15-game unbeaten streak went down the drain on Wednesday 6-3 to the Montreal Canadiens, the team they must beat if they are to win the NHL East.

Finally last night, any hopes of first place may have turned to just pipedreams as the Rangers dropped their second straight, a 4-1 decision to the fast-improving Buffalo Sabres.

In the only other NHL game Thursday night Boston topped Philadelphia 3-1.

First period goals by Rene Robert and Gil Perreault keyed the Sabres' win over the Rangers which also boosted Buffalo into a two-game edge over the idle Detroit Red Wings for the final playoff spot in the East. The final insult to the suddenly slumping Rangers came in the third period when Norm Gratton, a former Ranger who was just acquired the night before, scored Buffalo's last goal.

The other two Bruin goals were scored by Ken Hodge and Greg Sheppard as Boston, with 77 points now, moved to within four points of the Rangers in the NHL east.

Bobby Orr picked up a goal and two assists as the Bruins made some headway on the Rangers by picking up two quick points. Orr got Boston's first goal and oddly enough, picking up an assist on that marker was Derek Sanderson, who was making his first appearence in Philadelphia since his celebrated walkout on the World Hockey Association Blazers there.

A Cool Customer

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Bruce Crampton was straight-faced as ever, betraying not a hint of emotion, as he considered the question.

"Why, no," the Australian veteran replied, now with just the trace of a smile. "I'm not going to win them all. I've already missed in three."

The sturdy 37-year-old scored consecutive triumphs in the Phoenix and Dean Martin-Tucson Open earlier this season and Thursday took a share of the first-round lead in the $170,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open golf tournament.

He slogged through mud and goo, struggled with uncut greens and finished in a driving rain with a 67, matching the five-under-par efforts of 23-year-old rookie Tom Kite and former collegiate football star Hale Irwin.

All played the North Course at Torrey Pines, a 6,667-yard layout that wasn't scheduled to be part of the tournament.

Officials, however, were forced to shift half the 144-man field to that course when morning rain and hail caused a three-hour delay and made it impossible to get the entire field around a single course. Half played the more difficult, 7,047-yard south course. The players will shift courses for today's second round.

Greens were to be cut on both courses today. They were cut only on the south course for Thursday's play and some players—who went on the uncut north layout—were highly displeased with the prospect.

Doug Sanders and veteran Frank Beard were just one stroke off the pace at 68. The group at 69 included Billy Casper, Grier Jones, Bob Dickson, Steve Melnyk, Rik Massengale and Mike Morley.

Casper, Dickson and Jones were the only ones among the leaders to play the south course.

Finally, A Victory After 138 Defeats

FRIENDSVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The Friendsville Academy Foxes, the losingest high school basketball team in the nation, can now hold their heads high—they finally won a game.

True, the team they beat wasn't exactly championship material, but they did beat them and that's all that matters in Friendsville today.

Unitil Thursday night the Foxes had lost 138 games in a row. The last time a victory cheer went up for the tiny Quaker prep school was almost exactly six years ago—February, 1967.

But Thursday night they whipped St. Camillus Academy of Corbin, Ky., 62-43.

St. Camillus asked for it.

Jim Langster, coach of the Kentucky school, has been nursing his own losing streak. "I read about Friendsville Academy's long losing streak in the National Observer," he said. "My former boss kidded me a long time about getting me a game with Friendsville Academy if we didn't win a game.

Langster has been contemplating the match-up with the Foxes for two years.

"After reading about them again this year, I said my team can't be as bad as that team," Langster said. He was dead wrong.

After the game, Langster said, "This is the worst team we've played.

"It's nothing for us to get beat by 100 points.

The Foxes and their fans went wild. They carried Coach Rick Little on their shoulders across the floor. Tears trickled from the eyes of the cheerleaders.

Little said the burden of the losing streak had been telling on his players.

The squad has been suffering from injuries, illnesses, and even one ulcer, which kept Johnny French, a good scorer, out of action for a time, Little said.

Friendsville Academy has 45 boarding students and 11 day students from the surrounding community. St. Camillus is a girls' boarding school run by the sisters of the Divine Provindence. The boys attending the prep school are from the community around Corbin.

Navy Chooses George Welsh

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — George Welsh did a double take when somebody hauled out the old no. 11 jersey he wore while leading Navy to football glory in the mid 1950s.

"I thought you retired that thing," quipped Welsh, who was named head grid coach at the Naval Academy Thursday.

Informed that No. 11 is now worn by wide receiver Larry Van Loan, the new coach grinned: "Well, I guess we'll let him have it back."

H.S. Player Shot to Death

WASHINGTON, N. C. (UPI) — A high school basketball player was shot to death Thursday night during an intermission at the Beaufort County-Hyde County basketball tournament.

Authorities said Mack Ray Whitney, 19, of Pantego, was shot once in the head with a .32 caliber pistol in a rest room.

Willie Herman Hawks, 21, also of Pantego, was charged with first degree murder and was held without bond in the Beaufort County jail.

Police Lt. James Gilgo said Whitney and Hawks were the "best of friends" and he had been unable to determine a motive for the shooting.

The incident happened during intermission of the Pantego-Bath girls game.

Whitney, a junior forward on the Pantego team, had led his squad to victory over the Mattamuskeet High School team Wednesday.

Hull Returns With Flourish

By United Press International

Bobby Hull definitely has a flair for the dramatic.

Returning to Chicago, where he starred for many years as a member of the National Hockey League Chicago Black Hawks, Hull blasted home four goals and assisted on two others Thursday night to lead the Winnipeg Jets to a 7-2 World Hockey Association rout of the Chicago Cougars.

Hull, who took over as Winnipeg's player-coach this season, collected his 33rd and 34th goals in the first 10 minutes of play, completed his hat trick late in the second period and then banged in his 36th goal with less than five minutes left in the game.

He also assisted on one of Norm Beaudin's two goals. Rick Morris had both Chicago goals.

In other WHA action, the Minneosta Fighting Saints shut out the Ottawa Nationals, 3-0, edged the Los Angeles Sharks, 6-5, and the Houston Aeroes beat the Alberta Oilers, 5-3.

Mike Curran stopped 28 shots to record his third shutout of the season as the Saints beat Ottawa. Mike Antonovich had two goals for Minnesota and Dick Paradise a third.

Tim Sheehy's two goals helped New England beat the Sharks. John French's goal at 6:04 of the second period put the Whalers ahead to stay in the see-saw battle.

Ted Taylor had a pair of goals as the Aeroes stopped Alberta. Houston surged to a 4-1 lead and then held off a furious Oiler assault to win.

Warriors Blow 13-Point Lead

OAKLAND (AP) — The Golden State Warriors will try to regain the winning track tonight in Seattle against the Super-Sonics by holding onto any lead they might get.

The Warriors squandered a 13-point lead Thursday to the Baltimore Bullets, losing a 96-94 National Basketball Association game. Golden State had won its two previous games against the Bullets.

There were no other games played in the NBA Thursday night.

In the ABA, Carolina whipped Kentucky 120-108 in the only game scheduled.

The Bullets roared back to tie the game 70-70 on Phil Chenier's basket in the final period's opening minute. Three more Chenier baskets built a six-point Bullets lead.

The Warriors evened it 90-90 on a Rick Barry field goal at 2:49 to play. Wes Unseld, who tallied five points in the final two minutes, then scored on a layin and a free throw, lifting Baltimore on top again.

With four seconds to play, reserve John Tresvant missed a free throw and a chance to ice the game for Baltimore. Trailing 96-94, the Warriors called time out, but a pass from Barry bounced off Tresvant's foot and time expired before the Warriors could try a desperation shot.

Martin Runs 100 For Third Time

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UPI) — Ray Martin, tied for fourth place, ran more than 100 balls for the third night in a row Thursday as he knocked off Dan Diliberto of Miami, 150-68 in the World Pocket Billiard Championship.

Martin, of Clifton, N.J., dropped 116 straight to match his previous totals of 139 and 100, in running his record to 11-6.

Hickok Award To Carlton

CHICAGO (UPI) — Steve Carlton, who was major league baseball's winningest pitcher last year, Thursday was named winner of the $15,000 Hickok Award as professional athlete of the year.

He won the honor by a 22-point margin over golfer Jack Nicklaus, garnering 349 points to Nicklaus' 327. Wilt Chamberlain was third with 67 points, Larry Brown fourth with 66½ and Jerry West fifth with 64.

Carlton, who played for the team with the most losses in baseball, will receive the 23rd S. Rae Hickok diamond studded, gold-buckled belt at a special awards dinner Sunday.

"It's really super to win this," he said. "It's very prestigious to win it—among the other athletes that were in competition."

UCCC Looking Past Post Junior to Westchester

HARTFORD, CONN. — Has Post Junior College improved that much since its 119-66 drubbing on Jan. 6 at the hands of Ulster County Community College that it might furnish some reasonable opposition to the Mid-Hudson Conference leaders Saturday night at Stone Ridge.

"I didn't know where you're getting your information," said Coach Howard Burse. "We're only 5 and 13 right now, giving up 90 points a game and scoring only 76. That's improvment?"

Well, didn't you upset Farmingdale in your last game?

"Oh, that . . . it was strictly a fluke," countered Busse, trying to maintain his cool. "Three starters were missing from their lineup and their biggest scorer is no longer with the team. We played one of our best games and beat them."

Busse disclosed that Tom Tarvin, Post's best allround player, is no longer with the squad and one of the reserves — Billy Giel — has moved up to the varsity.

Post's top scorer is Steve McCallister, who is hitting about 16 points a game. There are no other 'stars' on a team which is obviously struggling through the season. They were routed by Westchester by 42 points and, of course, the Ulster margin on Jan. 6 was 53 points.

"Every coach in the region thinks about beating Ulster," said Busse, "but few make it. All we want to do Saturday night is give Ulster a good game."

Ulster goes into the game as the 13th-ranked junior college basketball team in the nation on the basis of the latest NJCAA ratings — the same as the week before. The Senators' three-game defensive binge in holding the opposition to a combined 104 points apparently didn't impress the selectors that much, whoever they are.

Coach Perry's squad was in 10th place in defense nationally with a 61.1 point per-game yield thrugh its first 25 games and before the 85-point harvest by Rockland Wednesday night. Crowded with UCCC in the 61-plus range were Crowder College of Neosha, Missouri 61.1, Haskell Indian JC of Lawrence, Kansas, 61.2 and Region XV's Farmingdale squad at 61.3.

Wright College of Chicago retained the top position in this week's ratings with a 27-1 record, 7 first place votes and 166 points. Gulf Coast CC of Panama City, Florida, was a distant second with 129 points.

Meanwhile, back in Stone Ridge, oach Mike Perry is obviously looking past Post to next Wednesday's climactic battle with the Westchester powerhouse, now 24-3.

As though fearing the worst, Coach Perry has been insisting all along that man-for-man, Coach Ralph Arietta's Vikings are the best team in the region. Most observers believe that honor belongs to the defending champions—Ulster—and Westchester is No. 2

That should make the Vikings try harder next Wednesday, shouldn't it?

Rondout, Liberty, Wallkill Win

Ellenville Applies the Pressure

Game Behind in South

ELLENVILLE

Ellenville High School continued to apply the pressure to front running Marlboro in the Ulster County Athletic League's Southern Division basketball race Thursday night by downing Red Hook, 75-56.

The win left the Ellies one full game behind Marlboro. Both have two to play, Ellenville against Rondout and Highland, Marlboro against Highland and Coleman.

In Northern Division action Thursday, Mike Dunn's hoop at the buzzer lifted Wallkill to a 74-73 overtime victory over Onteora; Ivan Richards tallied 23 points in the first half enroute to a 33 point night in leading Liberty to a 73-53 triumph over New Paltz; and Rondout downed Pine Bush, 76-52, behind Billy Wilkens' 31 points.

Ellenville hit 48 per cent of its field goal tries in upending Red Hook. Leon Ware and Ricky Kaplan led the way with 16 points apiece while Ray Younger chipped in 14 and Jim Whaley notched 10.

The Ellies moved out to a 21-11 first quarter advantage and stretched that to 39-20 at halftime. The shooting of Dana Kilgour and John Funk enabled Red Hook to maintain the deficit at that level.

Funk scored 20 of his game high 24 points in the second half. Kilgour tallied 14 points for the now 7-6 Raiders.

Onteora recovered from a 11-0 first quarter disadvantage to make a ballgame of it with Wallkill. The Indians rallied in the second session to come to within two, and moved in front of the Panthers only to have Wallkill tie it late in the fourth period.

Just prior to sending the game into overtime, Onteora had the ball and 30 seconds to win it in regulation. But an outside shot failed and several rebound attempts from in close also didn't go.

Dunn, a star for Wallkill of late, hit all six of the Panthers' overtime points including the winner at the buzzer when he rebounded a desparation throw.

Onteora seemed to have it clinched when Joe Phelan sank a pair of foul shots with 10 seconds left to give the Indians a 73-72 edge.

Dunn scored 24 points in all to tie with Onteora's Jim Sullivan for game honors.

Rondout's Wilkens, the little senior guard, helped give his team a 36-25 lead at the half by scoring 14 of his 31 points in the second period. On his way to a career high point total, Wilkens was 12 for 25 from the field.

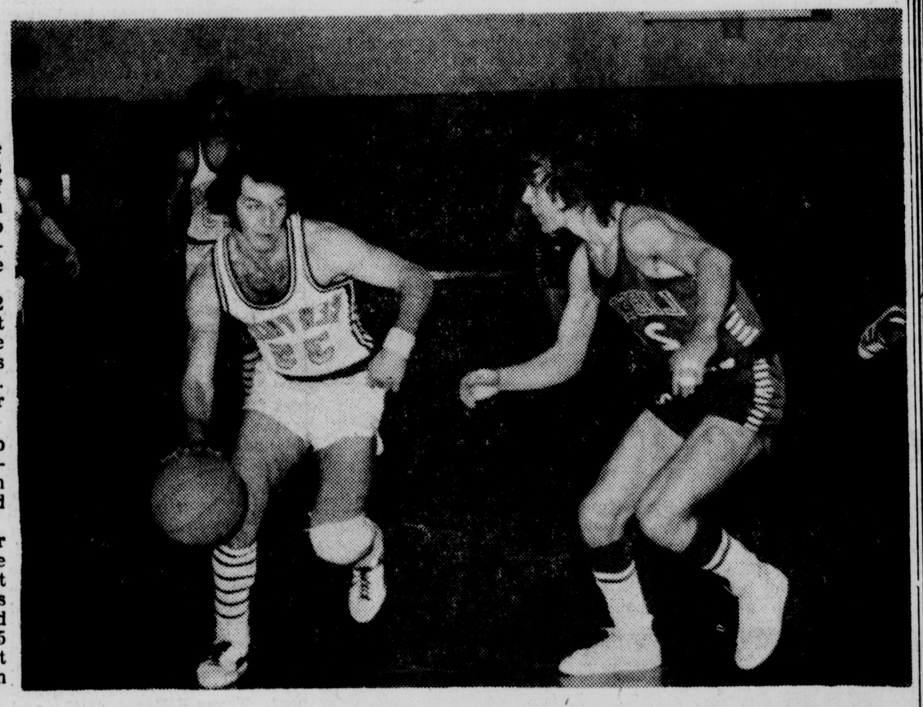

Pine Bush had taken a 13-12 first quarter edge, but Rondout went into a pressing defense and ran off a streak of 12 points in a row to reverse the trend.

Jim Caputo hit 22 points for Pine Bush.

Richards of Liberty "went to work on us in the second quarter," said New Paltz Coach Frank Davis after his team had suffered its loss.

The UCAL's leading scorer helped break open a 9-8 game by pacing Liberty to a 24-point second session. The Redskins added 25 points in the third period. New Paltz had only 25 points after three periods, but came on with a 28 point fourth quarter.

Bucky Sutter scored 20 points for the Hugies, whose JV team won, 53-49, behind Pete Sciasia's 17 points.

Rhinebeck Wins On Kane's Shot

SPACKENKILL

Paul Kane drilled a long jump shot at the final buzzer to give the Rhinebeck High School Indians their 12th win of the season over Spackenkill here Thursday night, 61-60.

Rhinebeck trailed by one point with only four seconds left on the clock when they put the ball in play from under the Spackenkill basket. Sophomore guard John Farrell fired the ball to Kane who ripped the net with a 28-footer.

Kane, a junior who passed the 1,000 point career mark in his last game, dumped in 28 points to lead all scorers. Spackenkill's Buff Sylvester had 20 for the losers.

In a battle of 6-4 freshman centers, Rhinebeck's Ed Vaughn came out on top for the second time this season over Terry Brown. Vaughn connected for 16 points and dominated the boards with teammate Elliott Susin while Brown was held to 11 points.

Rhinebeck still trails Millbrook by half a game in the Bi-Valley race. The Blazers maintained their league-leading pace and ran their record to 13-1 with an easy win over Haldane Tuesday night.

Spackenkill slipped to 7-5 with the loss. Rhinebeck has two games remaining in the league, next Wednesday against Haldane and the following Tuesday against Pine Plains.

the Indians' top challenger, suffered an upset previously in the season to Rondout and wound up at 5-2.

The match's key battle came in the 148 class where Onteora's Nick Klercker won a 10-7 decision from favored Doug Dillon. The Huguenots were in good shape up to that point, but Klercker's upset turned the balance to the Indians.

Onteora's Robin Hunter and New Paltz's McGuire both moved up a wieght class to face each other in 105. Hunter won a tough 6-4 decision to complete his sweep of one of the strongest brackets in the UCAL. Another close match went the other way as Todd Grosshans took a 6-5 victory from Ken. St. John in 135 to bring the Hugies even after six bouts.

"They're tough," said a relieved OCS coach Joe Friedel, "and they're young. I'm going to hate to face them next year, but I'm happy to win this time."

Ketcham Cagers Surprise KHS, 57-38

WAPPINGERS FALLS

"If I ever saw a team ice cold, it was us," said Kingston High School basketball coach Mike Rienzo following his club's surprising 57-38 defeat at the hands of Ketcham here Thursday.

"It was just one of those nights," Rienzo continued. "We played uninspired ball and just couldn't put it in the basket."

The Maroons connected on only 32 per cent of their shots while Ketcham, a team beaten by Kingston earlier this season, banged home an average of 56 per cet of its tries.

It was a costly loss for KHS. The Maroons are now 7-7 in the Dutchess County Scholastic League and 7-9 overall. They have two games left on the schedule, and both against teams that have already beaten them (Arlington and Beacon). Not only must KHS win both to finish at the .500 mark for the year, but a bid to the sectionals, seemingly easy due to the few AA schools around, still hinges on the results.

Rienzo surmised that Kingston wasn't ready for Ketcham.

"We weren't up for the game," he commented. "The win over Poughkeepsie, which was probably our best team effort of the season, took a lot out of us. I think playing on a Thursday hurt too because we were out of cycle. We didn't practice Wednesday because I was sick. Normally we would only have a light workout anyway with a crisp practice on Thursday.

"We were just plain flat," he added.

The Maroons held a 10-6 first quarter lead, but Ketcham opened up the second frame with eight straight points to take a 14-10 advantage. The Indians stretched it to 22-16 at halftime.

Following an even third quarter, Ketcham blew the lid off in the final period, outscoring Kingston, 21-8.

In that span, KHS continued to have trouble cracking Ketcham's 2-3 zone defense, and the Indians got strong offensive efforts from Monty Buckbee, Kevin Murphy, and Doug Heady. Buckbee also controlled the backboards.

The Maroons, down by 11 at 44-33, made a brief comeback attempt when they went to a pressing defense and scored two straight buckets. But then Ketcham realed off 10 straight points to settle matters.

Murphy topped all shooters with 14 points. Raymond Gay and Chuck Jackson each scored eight markers for the losing Maroons.

Kingston's JV team also lost, its fourth in 16 games, 59-53, despite 18 points from Lou Eccleston and 16 from Billy Chaffin.

The game with Arlington is slated for Tuesday night in Freedom Plains.

Admirals Shade Sawyers

SAUGERTIES

"If ever a team deserved to win," said Saugertie coach Larry Marcus, "it was these kids yestercay after all they've been through."

But Saugerties High School's quest for its first DCSL victory was thwarted in the final seconds here Thusday when Arlington's Skip Farrier threw a rebound back at the basket and sunk it to give the Admirals a 59-58 win.

Saugerties trailed for three quarters but stormed back in the final period on some good team shooting. Scott Emery led the rally and at one point hit four consecutive shots before Chris Luley tied the game with a layup while drawing a fould. Luley completed the three-pointer, and the Sawyers led, 58-57, but there were still 12 seconds to go.

Scott Gleckel, who led all scorers with 23 points and kept Arlington going through the fourth quarter with a barrage of foul shots, took the ball across midcourt and fired a desperation shot. He missed, but with three seconds showing, Farrier grabbed the rebound and dumped in the winning bucket.

Marcus called the Sawyer effort "the best of the year," and pointed to the rally that almost overcame Arlington's nine-point lead. Gleckel helped stand off Saugerties by hitting on seven of eight attempts from the free throw line including six in the last two minutes and two of them in the last 25 seconds.

Farrier finished with 13 points and Larry Riley 15 to lead Arlington while the Sawyers maintained a balanced attack. Scott Wilson had 15, Emery 14, Luley 13 and Larry Panella 12 to pace Saugerties. The big difference in the game statistics came at the fould line where the Admirals scored 15 points to the Sawyers' two.

Saugerties now has 13 losses while Arlington is 7-7.

Maroon Swimmers Go Unbeaten

KINGSTON

Kingston High School's swimming team completed its second straight unbeaten dual meet season at the YMCA pools Thursday by scoring a surprisingly close 49-46 victory over New York Military Academy.

The Maroon aqua team now has won 28 meets in a row — 11 this season, 12 last season, and five the year before that.

KHS coach Ron Gabriele, eyeing an early season rout of New York Military, chose to juggle his lineup somewhat to give his younger performers some experience. He got away with the tactic, but there was a hint of sweat on his brow by the end of the afternoon.

NYMA won the opening and closing relays as well as the diving and the 100 yard breaststroke. In addition, NYMA had five second place finishes to make the final team score tight.

Victorious for the Maroons were Jay Rifenbary (200 free), Paul Hansen (200 IM), Jack Abernathy (50 free), Bobby Winrow (100 fly), Rick Stuven (400 free), and Anne St. Denis (100 back).

The only double winner was NYMA's Andy Vosburgh, who took part in the 200 medley relay and followed with a first in the 100 breast.

Winrow completed the dual meet season as Kingston's point leader. He had 100. Fred Robinson holds the school record of 152 set in a 15-meet season.

Kingston's next action will be in next weeks' DCSL championships, Wednesday and Thursday at the Poughkeepsie Middle School. The summaries;

KHS Skiers Streak

WOODRIDGE

With Don Boyce streaking to his fourth straight first place finish, Kingston High School's boys ski team raced to a 177.5 to 180.8 victory over Liberty at Davos Thursday.

It was the Maroons' third victory in two days. Wednesday Kingston notched its second and third straight Tri-County wins by upending Yorktown and Mahopac in a triangular meet also at Davos.

The KHS girls, who do not compete in the Tri-County, defeated Liberty to improve their overall record to 5-4.

Boyce swept down the slope in 34.25 seconds to easily take a first over Liberty's Kurt Raggio. Raggio and teammate Harry Beck placed 2-3 while Keith Raggio was fifth for the Indians, but that was all the top ten places the losers could manage.

Ken Burgess nailed down fourth for the Maroons in 35.2, and he also took fourth against Yorkville and Mahopac. Jim Hanstein, the runnerup to Boyce in the triangular meet, led an unbroken string of five KHS skiers to the finish by taking sixth place against Liberty.

Boyce took the triangular with a time of 69.8 for two combined runs. Hanstein was a close second with 70.1. Burgess clocked 70.8 behind a third-place Yorktown finish, and Kingston's Tom Spiesman was fifth in 72.4. Other Maroons in the top ten were Randy Spiesman with a 73.2 time good for seventh, and Gary Reynolds with an eighth-place 73.8 It was Yorktown's first defeat in six meets.

A strong team effort carried the KHS girls to a 213-246 win over Liberty. Susan Stuart took first for the losers, but Cindy Lowe and Michele O'Donnell wrapped the next two places for Kingston.

Massa's, Acker's Win

KINGSTON

Acker's Bar used only five players — and all scored in double figures — to trounce Ramsey's Chargers 95-59, while A.J. Murphy rimmed 24 points to lead Massa's Enterprises to a 72-69 squeaker over a surprisingly stubborn Carriage House in YMCA "A" Basketball League action.

The standings in the league are unreported and unknown.

Dave Whitaker potted 29 points for Acker's and Dave Thomas and Dave Kane had 22 apiece. Paul Schleede led Ramsey's with 18. Acker's led 42-29 at halftime.

Carriage House trailed Massa's 43-37 at the half, but outscored the winners 16-6 to go ahead 53-49 at the three-quarter mark. Massa's pulled it out with a 23-point fourth quarter.

Rod Chando, the Saugerties AA scoring leader, added 18 and Stan Henderson 16 to the Massa total. Bill Brady hit 21 and Jim Alba 20 for Carriage House.

Aquinas Tops Hawks

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz State Hawks climbed over the 90-point mark for the second straight game, but St. Thomas Aquinas of New York scored 109 and that was the story of State's 109-96 setback Wednesday night, their 16th in 20 games.

Saturday night, New Paltz hosts Potsdam which comes to town with a 3-2 SUNNY record.

Gary Fisher, the Newest player on the team, turned in another fine fine performance with 26 points. Glenn Hudson added 24, Mike Callaghan 15 and Tom Whitaker 11 for Coach Si Pesavento's team.

St. Thomas, leading 50-43 at the half, had five players in solid double figures. Team captain Bob Dougherty rimmed 26, Harry Vega 29 and Joe Lopiano 23.

The Hawks never came closer than five points after leading in the early stages of the game.

"They had a small but fast team," said Coach Pesavento, "and picked up a lot of baskets on fast breaks."

The key to the Hawks' setback came when the club's top rebounder, Mike Callaghan, fouled out with eight minutes left to play. The Hawks were 44 for 100 (44 per cent) from the field but actaully lost the game at the free throw line where St. Thomas converted 19 of 23, while New Paltz went 8 for 13.

Following Potsdam Saturday night, the Hawks host Albany State College in the renewal of a strong rivalry. Warren Kolln of Kingston will be in the Albany lineup.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. —Since he was named head football coach at Vanderbilt this week, Steve Sloan has been called a lot of things, all of them good, and one of them "a young Bear Bryant."

"I saw that in the paper and I started to clip it out and send it to Coach Bryant," Sloan told a news conference Thursday But he added that he didn't buy it.

At 28, Sloan becomes not only the youngest head football coach in the Southeastern Conference but one of the youngest in the nation. He left Georgia Tech, where he was offensive coordinator, to replace Bill Pace in the Commodore post and a reported five-year contract at $30,000 a year.

Steven J. Tasnady came home to a '73 Ford Maverick because it gave him country club comfort at YMCA prices.

Purchasing agent Steven J. Tasnady likes the sporting life, but he doesn't like to throw money away. When he buys a car, he shops darn carefully.

"We looked at the Toyotas, Datsuns, all the other compacts—but they were like expensive playthings to us," says Steve.

"We picked the basic Maverick and we built on that with a V-8 engine, heavy duty suspension, bucket seats, all vinyl decor."

We got a basic, dependable, family sized compact in the Maverick...and we got all the luxury we could ask for in the bargain!"

The days of going out on a limb to keep up with the guy next door seem to be ending. More and more Americans like Steven Tasnady want luxury with economy.

Maybe that's why so many of them are coming home to their Ford Dealers' showrooms and to cars like the '73 Maverick.

Nixon Seeks Emergency Strike Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite periodic promises and rhetoric, Congress is still dealing crisis-by-crisis with the problem of transportation strikes that threaten to create national emergencies.

The latest such episode was that the Penn Central Railroad strike, stopped by law within hours after it began.

It was a familiar exercise, something that has happened eight times within six years, as Congress acted on special legislation to deal with transportation strikes.

AP Analysis

Each time, amid the crisis atmosphere that has prodded Congress to quick action, there have been demands for legislation to create permanent machinery so that the government can cope with future emergencies.

Each time, the pressure has ebbed with postponement and eventual settlement of the walkout.

President Nixon has proposed emergency-strike legislation in the past, although the administration, anxious to gain labor votes, did not press the issue in the last election year. Presumably it will be revived in one of the President's messages to Congress.

Bills to empower the government to deal with future strikes already have been introduced in both House and Senate one of them by Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, the Republican whip and chief sponsor of past administration proposals.

Griffin said there must be long-term action to "get Congress out of the labor arbitration business" of dealing with each strike and its issues only after a walkout is under way.

His proposal, similar to the terms the administration recommended to the last Congress, would empower the president to order cooling-off periods of up to 110 days to head off transportation strikes that threaten the national health or safety.

In the Penn Central strike, Congress ordered a 90-day cooling-off period, until May 9, with the administration to report in the interim on negotiating progress and recommendations for settlement.

In the House, Rep. J. J. Pickle, D-Tex., said the only bill with a chance of passing would be one including provisions distasteful to both labor and management.

In simplest terms, government seizure or operation of a strike-bound industry is the alternative most distasteful to management, compulsory arbitration is anathema to labor. Both possibilities are raised by most of the proposed measures, although varying forms of arbitration loom as the likely final solution to any dispute that defied negotiated settlement.

Pickle said Congress itself has become a sort of super arbitration panel. "Believe me, a 535-man arbitration board is no way to run a railroad," he said.

Ulster Youth-in-Government ... Three Main Issues Tackled

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Ulster County Youth-In-Government legislators tackled three main issues during their first meeting Thursday — pollution, censorship and eligibility of political leaders.

The board also agreed to meet twice a month in the future and set March 1 for its next meeting in the County Office Building.

The students, who represent schools from all over the county, agreed unanimously that there should be no censorship of party platforms or legislative bills within the Youth-In-Government program. They contended that censorship is contrary to all democratic processes and stated that the purpose of the program is to educate youth in the democratic process.

In the past the program has brought forth issues such as the legalization of marijuana and other controversial topics but this year there has been little of an apparently controversial nature as yet.

The youth board, after lengthy discussion, agreed to table the resolution dealing with pollution because they declared it too vague.

Specifically it asked that funds be allocated for scientific research and methods to stop the present pollution hazard.

It was pointed out that several industrial plants in Ulster County are a source of pollution.

One girl suggested that the plants know how to scientifically prevent pollution. "Why don't they do it?" she asked.

Another student asked why electricity cannot be produced in "a clean manner?"

Several legislators suggested that a recycling depot be set up in the county for aluminum and bottles.

Eric Werbalowsky, minority leader, Freedom Party, said he had already written to companies such as Reynolds Aluminum and Coca Cola for information on the subject.

It was suggested that a separate resolution dealing with recycling be submitted in the future.

Lorraine McGrane, majority leader, Students for Democratic Action, moved to table the resolution on the basis of its vagueness.

The board voted to table 16 to one.

The Independent Party was led by minority leader Henry DePippo. Roy Berger of the Freedom Party served as chairman.

The third resolution dealt with the eligibility of political party chairmen.

The sponsors of the resolution claimed that a few of the previous Youth - in - Government meetings have been "run in a chaotic manner" and they wished to restrict the chairmen of the politicad parties, conventions and meetings to students who are juniors or seniors in high school. This year all the majority and minority leaders are junior high school students.

The measure was defeated 15 to one with one abstention. Arguments were heard on both sides but a majority seemed to think that the grade the student was in made no difference as far as his or her capabilities. It was also pointed out that junior high school students who are in the program for a number of years will gain experience and make better leaders as a result of that experience. One young legislator said she was in the eighth grade, had been in the program for two years and "has more experience than newly elected students in the 11th and 12 grade."

It was also pointed out that the term "chaotic" might better have been applied to conventions that were held prior to Youth-in-Government meetings rather than YIG meetings themselves.

Among those in attendance at the meeting were S. Robert Kelder, (R-Dist. 2) chairman of the Ulster County Legislature's Youth and Recreation Committee which organizes the YIG Program. Also members of his committee, James Gilpatric (D-City), Charles Scala (R-Dist. 1) nd Clifford Snyder (R-Dist. 1).

Other legislators were at the session including Ralph Brach (R-Dist. 9), Raymond Armater (R-City) and Ernest Gardner (R-Dist. 11) majority leader of the Legislature.

Advisors to the YIG Program were also in attendance including the coordinator, Miss Patricia Breen. Also Howard Rust, Miss Bonnie McCaig, Mrs. Patricia Majewski, Sister Eileen and Sister Alice.

Last week the YIG participants were guests of the Legislature at dinner and at their regular monthly meeting.

Ferrara - Plant

Mary Ellen Ferrara, daughter of Mrs. Alphonse Ferrara of Saugerties and the late Alphonse Ferrara, became the bride of Almerick Fred Plant Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Almerick Fred Plant Sr. of Mt. Marion, Saturday, Feb. 3. The Rev. John Reardon of St. John the Evangelist Church, Centerville, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs Judith Fiero of Malden provided wedding selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Frederick Ferrara. She wore a traditional white satin gown in the empire line. The gown was trimmed with white daisies and featured a train. A white satin band trimmed with daisies held her veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and red roses, centered with a white orchid.

Kathy Dupre of Saugerties was honor attendant in a pink chiffon gown styled with a cranberry velvet vest. She wore a headpiece of pink carnations and red roses and carried a similar bouquet.

Attendants were Deborah Ferrara, niece of the bride, Sharon Jones, Virginia Tobiassen, all of Saugerties. Their blue, pink and mint green gowns, respectively, were styled identically to that worn by the honor attendant. They carried similar bouquets to match their gowns and wore matching headpieces.

Joseph Plant, brother of the bridegroom, Mt. Marion, was best man. Ushers were Ricky Plant, brother of the bridegroom, Mt. Marion; Anthony Langon, Mt. Marion; and Fred Jones of Saugerties. Thomas Ferrara, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

A reception was given at American Legion Hall in Saugerties.

The bride, a 1972 graduate of Saugerties High School, is employed at W. T. Grants in Saugerties.

Her husband, also a 1972 graduate of Saugerties High School, is employed at Dixon and Rippel, Mt. Marion.

After a wedding trip through the Adirondacks, the couple is residing at 17 Barclay Street, Saugerties.

To Bathe or Not to Bathe - - Furor

DEAR ABBY: What's all this fuss about how often a person should take a bath? My grampa lived to be 98 years old. He was big and strong and was never sick a day in his life. He bathed only once a year, and that was done in a dam near our farm. Folks used to come from miles around just to watch Grampa take his yearly bath.

AQUASCUTUM, TEX.

DEAR TEX: Good for Grampa. I'll bet nobody needed directions on how to find him.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: You're a dirty old female chauvinist! Your advice on bathing reflects that state of your mind.

What is natural is by no means "dirty" unless the mind is inclined that way. Cleanliness is indeed next to Godliness, but that same body is also the temple of the spirit of that god which dwells in man and womankind. I doubt if that god would dwell in an "unclean" temple.

You belong in India, where your views would allow you to label women "unclean" — and "untouchable." Go soak your - - - -!

PEGGY, MARIE, JUDY AND SUSAN
(All of the HERALD-MAIL, HAGERSTOWN, MD.)

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Like all other human beings, you are entitled to your opinion. However, I think there must be some underlying motive in your statement that "women can't bathe enough."

Are you a secret agent for Proctor and Gamble? Or are you just weird?

"DIRTY GERTIE"

DEAR GERTIE: Neither. I just have a love affair going with soap. And that's no lie!

• • •

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to your reader who suggested that bathing regularly was tantamount to effete snobbism and totally unnecessary. It may be I am particularly susceptible to detecting this distinction, but I think I am not alone.

As physical recreation I regularly swim a mile in the campus pool during my lunch hour, and I find it surprisingly easy to distinguish who has and who has not showered before entering the pool and is swimming alongside me. There are many in the latter group who are prominent, important, and respected elder colleagues who would be the first to insist that all long-haired youths "smell bad" — not realizing that they smell far worse.

For what it is worth, I have found this an infallible way to discover who is and who is not nice to be near, the lambs or the old goats, one could say.

LOVES TO SWIM IN SANTA BARBARA

DEAR LOVES: I vote for the lambs.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: You doll! Your statement, "A man should bathe once a day, and a woman can't bathe often enough" said it all. We are a group of men who must work in close quarters with some women who do not believe in bathing. We clipped that column and placed it on the desks of the offending females, and believe it or not, things are a lot better around here now. No names please. Just sign this,

"WORKING IN CLOSE QUARTERS" IN . . . HIGHLAND PARK, ILL.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I have been wanting to write to you for a long time because I have a very serious problem. I do not want my letter to appear in your column because this is a small town and every body would know I wrote it.

I know that you say you will answer problems personally if the person sends a stamped, addressed envelope, but I want to be sure that if the one enclosed got lost, another one would not be sent to me with your name on the outside, advertising the fact that I wrote to Dear Abby.

Please hurry your answer in the column, and sign me...

NEEDS YOUR HELP

DEAR NEEDS: You may write to me with absolute assurance that my personal reply will be sent in the envelope your provide, or a plain one. I NEVER send replies in envelopes bearing a hint of my name.

• • •

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

• • •

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Ulster BPW Club Names Committee On Nominations

Members of the Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club met for a regular dinner-meeting in the Governor Clinton Hotel's Crystal Room Tuesday, Feb. 13 and heard a program on BPW Orientation given by former district director Beverly Reese.

Miss Reese agumented her talk with the use of slides from BPW Headquarters. They told the BPW story on the local, state, national and internaional levels.

President Barbara Reed reminded the membership that the 1973 national convention has been changed from San Juan, Puerto Rico to Miami Beach, Fla. The convention date is July 8-12.

Elected to a nominating committee were Joan Ann Byrne, Stella Coppo, Irene Hermann, Marge Dalton and Beverly Reese. The committee will present a slate of officers at the March meeting. Voting will take place at the April meeting.

The next business meeting of the Ulster County BPW is scheduled for Tuesday, March 13 in the Governor Clinton Hotel. Nancy Plog, chairman of hospitality, will be in charge of the program portion for the evening.

All members are urged to attend. Ardeth Eckert will continue with the system of automatic dinner reservations.

Solid Perfumes

Instead of carrying around liquid perfume and running the risk of spills, try the new solid cream perfumes that are so easy to carry around in your pocketbook or leave in the office desk without worrying about evaporation.

Blended Colors

Whatever colors you choose to shadow and highlight your eyes, be sure they're well blended. Do this with a brush or fingertips. The effect should be soft, never harsh.

Tiny Tips

Skillets or frypans, like saucepans, should be flat on the bottom so the food will brown evenly. If your skillet is warped, it will not perform efficiently.

Baking soda may be used with buttermilk or molasses to help leaven a flour mixture. For thick batters and doughs, baking powder is often used along with soda as the major leavening agent.

If shelled nuts are refrigerated in tightly covered containers they will stay fresh-tasting for as long as nine months.

Red Hook Resident Overjoyed by POW

Myrtle Townsend, Red Hook Village Trustee and member of the Red Hook VFW Ladies Auxiliary, was overjoyed when the name on her POW bracelet purchased from the Auxiliary was listed among the POWs to be released.

He is Lt. Lewis I. Williams, Navy, Tampa, Fla., and was the only one from the Red Hook VFW to be announced released.

Members of the Auxiliary voted recently to give a donation to the Duchess County Heart Chapter and to donate a piano to the American Legion Auxiliary.

Anna Coons, Department president, reported on the National VFW Ladies Auxiliary Mid-Winter Conference held in Washington, D.C.

The Auxiliary Drill Team has completed plans for its annual Hobo Nite Dance at the post home Saturday. An award will be presented for the most original Hobo Costume.

Updated Jewel Neck

If you have an old jewel neck dress that definitely looks dated, revitalize it. Add a peter pan white collar and cuffs. Thn add a bright scarf tied into a big, floppy bow at the neck for a more popular look.

Sporty Fox

Red fox battle jackets are popular for sports wear. They also come in an imitation fox for those opposed to the real thing.

Marbletown Projects Listed

STONE RIDGE — The Marbletown Beautification Committee has announced plans for a number of projects for the coming year and has reviewed last year's accomplishments.

A poster contest for third and fourth grade children of the Marbletown Elementary School will be initiated. Theme for the posters will be the preservation and beautification of the environment. The art will be used during the 1973 Clean up Week campaign. First and second place awards have been made possible through the generous donation of a Marbletown resident.

The main effort of the Beautification Committee will continue to be removal of dead tress and the planting and care of new ones.

The committee works through volunteer contributions, all of which help to maintain and to restore the character of Marbletown. Gifts, which are tax deductible, may be made to the Town of Marbletown Tree Fund, care of treasurer Charles Gray, Stone Ridge, 12484.

During 1972, the Marbletown Beautification Committee initiated several new projects.

In order to make the children aware of the significance and beauty of ordinary things the second, and fourth grade pupils of the Marbletown Elementary School were taken on a variety of field trips. These included tours of private gardens, fields and forests of wild flowers, and old stone house and to an exciting 20th century modern structure.

Other rewarding projects included the completion of a flagstone walk in the Grange Mill Park; the planting of 14 new shrubs and 14 new trees along the roadsides; the removal of unsightly dead trees and stumps and the community Clean-Up Week during the month of May.

The members of the Marbletown Beautification Committee for 1973 are:

Mrs. Kenneth Davenport, chairman; Mrs. L. Harry Brague, Perry Cobb, Joseph Clark, Jr., Robert Filipek, Paul Gales III, Charles Gray, Mrs. Dewitt Hasbrouck and Arthur Woodcock.

Stone Ridge Library Trustee Is Elected

STONE RIDGE — Philip Buonfiglio was elected to the board of trustees of the Stone Ridge Library, at its recent annual meeting.

Buonfiglio will serve for a three year term. The library is governed by a board of 12 trustees from the Town of Marbletown.

Mrs. Dewitt Hasbrouck, librarian, reported a very active year, with circulation increased to 22,000, and the number of borrowers to 1,718. Mid-Hudson Libraries has given the library several fine reference books and a number of Children's books. Also a collection of 100 excellent paperback books have been given to the library.

The summer fair was most successful, due in part to the addition of a supper dance, under the able direction of William Daron, and his committee.

The other main source of income for the library is the membership drive, which is now on, and it is hoped the many friends of the library who have forgotten to send in their contribution for the year will do so.

At a later meeting, the Board elected it's officers for 1973. Those elected were John Blanchard, president; William Schwartz, vice-president re-elected were Mrs. William Daron, treasurer; and Mrs. Stanley Walker, secretary.

June 23 is the date set for the 1973 Stone Ridge Library Fair, as announced by Mrs. William Paetow, fair chairman; Mrs. Ed Nadel, co-chairman, and Arthur Woodcock, advisor. Any books or other items that residents wish to donate to the fair, may be left at the library any weekday or Saturday from 2 to 5 p.m.

Your Horoscope

Saturday, February 17

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You have a great deal of energy released today and tonight, but you are all too apt to use it in directions that later prove to be adverse for your welfare, so double-check whether or not your new ventures have proven to be a success, and if not, forget them and concentrate upon outlets that have worked out well.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Many duties have accumulated that can be gotten out of the way quickly today and for which you have not hours enough during busy work days. But save some time for recreation in p.m. Catch some good TV program tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use only proven methods in whatever you do today and make sure your appearance is just right when dealing with others. Evening is best for amusements you like. Avoid one who is a rowdy.

GEMINI (May 2q to June 21) Give attention to those affairs at home that do not appear to be vital, but are important just the same. Make the right preparations so you become more successful in the future. Put that fine plan to work.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make it a point to contact those who are vital to your way of life and increase the goodwill you now enjoy. Get your shopping done early, but do it wisely and count your change. Fun in p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Fine day for repairs at home that make it more functional and comfortable. Study your financial position well and try to plan so your income is greater than your outgo. Consult with experts, too.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Good day to improve both your health and charm through right treatments. You have to use tact if you want to put that plan across at group affairs. Show you are a romantic type of person.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Clear the slate for bigger things ahead by getting through all those tasks at hand. Your attachment has other interests right now, so get busy at whatever else interests you. Make this a productive day, p.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Join with congenials who have the same interests as yours and you can have a delightful time together, but try not to hurt their feelings in any way. A good friend needs your assistance Do your utmost to help.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get into the outside world but be sure you do not lose your temper with others. Handle vocational details cleverly. Get rid of whatever is blocking the path of your progress.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have new interests that appeal to you and are well within your scope of ability, so begin them early. Get out to the right places for self-expression. Show others you appreciate them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have promises to keep that you have made to others, so do not disappoint them; prove you can be relied upon. Rise above arguments with mate. Get on the constructive side of life.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Sit down with associates and exchange views that can lead to more harmony and profitable Not a good day to try to reconcile with one who opposes you. Await a better day for this.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those fussy and finicky young people who must be taught early that ordinary cleanliness is sufficient when there are more important things to be done, otherwise your progeny could turn into a household drudge and little else. There is a definite humanitarian quality in this nature and this should be slanted along a life's career for best results. Your youngster could become quite a boon to humanity at large.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Answer to Previous Puzzle

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

RING? (Q.) I met Sue about a month ago. It was love at first sight. The thing is, she lives in another town, so we don't get to see each other too often.

She wants a promise ring, but her parents might object. We have not done anything wrong, and we don't, because we aren't that kind of kids. She's 14 and I am 19.—In Love in Texas.

(A.) You really don't know each other well enough, nor is she old enough. These two facts make a promise ring rather premature right now.

Let your friendship grow, but don't push it too fast. And be prepared if Sue finds a boy her own age in her own town whom she prefers to you.

SUMMER PLAN. (Q.) Rex and I have a perfect understanding. He knows all about me and I know all about him. We do not talk to anyone else about matters between us—including the sex part.

Please do not misunderstand me. We have not had sex. But we have talked about it. Before he and his family moved to the West Coast last fall, we agreed that, although we both wanted each other very much, that could wait for marriage.

His moving has made me change some of my plans. I was planning to spend most of the summer at camp, but now I am planning to spend all summer—every possible moment I can with Rex and his family in California. I have been babysitting to save money for the trip. I have been planning for it almost ever since Rex left.

I am 16. Rex is 17. Could you tell me how old you have to be to go on birth control pills? Do you have to have your parents' permission? Can you get them without your parents' knowing? Where? — Waiting for Summer in Massachusetts.

(A.) If you have changed your mind about sex as well as summer camp, I urge you to reconsider.

You are asking for several kinds of trouble if that is what you have in mind.

Also, the only planner you mention is you—not Rex or his parents or your parents. If you do not have an invitation from his parents, plus full approval of your parents, plus an understanding between the two sets of parents, I urge you to drop the whole idea.

I especially urge you to drop the idea of sex.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001).

Idea Selling Commercials

NEW YORK (AP) — Two 30-second commercials about a common female complaint are scheduled to be broadcast here this weekend on WCBS-TV. They'll try to sell an idea instead of a product.

Their message is that job discrimination because of sex is just plain stupid. The commercials, called public service announcements, are being shown at no cost to the sponsor.

The sponsor is the National Organization for Women NOW, an activist women's rights group that hopes CBS' four other television stations and other broadcasters will run the ads.

Both commercials are low-key. One shows a baby girl, with an off-screen female voice saying: "This healthy, normal baby had a handicap: She was born female.

"When she grows up, her job opportunities will be limited and her pay low," the voice says, adding that job discrimination based on sex is both illegal and a waste of human resources.

The other commercial illustrates the waste by showing a young woman, with a college degree and academic honors, being interviewd by a man in the personnel department.

"You know, of course, that we start all our girls in the typing pool," he tells her.

The commercials, filmed last October at CBS' owned-and-operated station in Philadlphia, were put together by NOW members with the CBS Television network footing the production costs.

They came after two years of work by NOW members to find a way of starting a free national campaign to get their message across to the public, says Midge Kovacs, a NOW official here.

Although WCBS-TV officials say they'll run the ads, their counterparts at CBS-owned stations in Philadelphia, St. Louis, Chicago and Los Angeles still have to decide if they'll carry them.

But at least it's a start, says Midge Kovacs.

"We hope these announcements will raise questions in people's minds as to women's role in our society and if women have been fairly treated," she said.

By Oswald and James Jacoby

It is an absolute cinch to go down at four spades after West opens the queen of hearts. All South has to do is win the trick in dummy.

He will be unlucky in that West holds both the ace and queen of clubs and that East's diamonds are such that there will be no way for South to establish dummy's fourth diamond without letting East gain the lead, but like so much bad luck at the bridge table, South will have made a material contribution to it.

If South is a good bridge player and is willing to use the code work ARCH he will analyze the lead as top of equals; review the bidding and see that West will have almost all the missing high cards; count his potential losers and see that there are four of them and finally when he asks, "how can I make this hand?" he will see there is an extra chance.

Then he lets West hold that first trick. The sun shines, birds sing and eventually South will draw trumps; discard his diamond loser on a high heart; set up dummy's fourth diamond and throw away the jack of clubs.

He will have given away a heart to avoid the loss of a diamond and a club.

Establishtng Budget Controls ....A Thankless Task, But

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is trying again this year to set up effective machinery to control the budget, but past efforts show it to be a thankless task with little chance of success.

But some veteran members are saying things are different this time.

They point to substantial deficit spending the last three years, the weakening of the dollar abroad, the $6-billion balance-of-payments deficit last year and the steady march of inflation through recession and boom periods.

All these, some say, may have convinced a majority that they no longer can deal with the budget on a business-as-usual basis. That basis often has resulted in a spending increase even though the legislators pretended otherwise.

In 1972, for example, Congress cut President Nixon's appropriations requests by $5 billion. But it took other actions that actually would have boosted spending by more than $9 billion if the President had not refused to spend all the money voted.

Congress has made three other major attempts since World War II to set effective controls on spending, and all have failed.

The new effort is being directed by a 26-member Joint Study Committee on Budget Control set up last October when Congress refused to grant Nixon a $250-billion spending ceiling for fiscal 1973. The panel has agreed unanimously on 11 principles which it asserts can bring the budget under control.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., a co-chairman, hailed this as a giant first step and said he is confident the group will be successful in working out details in the next two months.

Under the principles, Congress would fix a spending ceiling each year early in the session and would establish procedures to guarantee the ceiling is kept.

But veteran members of Congress and staff experts in the field all do not share Ulman's optimism.

They say problems will come in trying to fill in the details of how the general principles will be carried out.

The key problem, they emphasize, is that there are two budgets and it is almost impossible to get them to mesh.

Each January, the president submits a spending budget for the year starting the next July 1. But Congress holds hearings on the second budget, which sets out how the president wants the money spent.

Much of the spending in any year is from appropriations made by past Congresses. Conversely, much of what Congress approves in a particular year will not be spent until later years.

Labor Group Report Scores Wage-Price

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A labor group's report released today says President Nixon's wage-price controls are cheating workers and consumers out of their fair share of economic growth while allowing big business to reap record profits.

"The employed worker is being squeezed by rising prices and taxes. Wage controls froze the worker out of the benefits of increased productivity," said the report by the AFL-CIO Maritime Trade Department.

The group, comprising 44 unions with a total of 8 million workers, cited government figures that manufacturing workers' output per man hour broke all earlier estimates by rising at an annual rate of more than 5 per cent late last year.

But, the report said, wages for all the nation's workers rose only 6 per cent in 1972, while industry was recording such profit increases as 72 per cent in nonferrous metals, 50 per cent in paper production, 39 per cent in textiles and 34 per cent in machinery.

The report said the unequal distribution of economic wealth threatened to continue under Nixon's Phase 3 wage-price controls and noted that a number of labor unions already have served notice they don't intend to be bound by the 5.5 per cent limit on wage hikes under Phase 3.

Paul Hall, president of the maritime group and one of five labor members Nixon appointed to an advisory group on wages, said unions would cooperate if the program were fair.

But Hall, one of a number of labor officials who broke traditional Democratic ranks to support Nixon's re-election, said it remained to be seen whether the new program would treat workers fairly.

"So far, the productivity increases of 1972 have been translated only into booming business profits and soaring stock prices," said the labor report.

"Productivity gains have not been shared with the work force or the consumer," it said.

While conceding workers made a slight increase in the purchasing power of their paychecks under Nixon's anti-inflation programs the past year, the report said wage earners had been asked to bear a disproportionate share of economic sacrifices.

AFL-CIO unions are gathering here this week for the labor federation's annual winter meeting.

President's Plea Attracts Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's plea to Congress to act promptly on administration environmental and farm legislation has elicited critical responses from three influential Democratic senators.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, urged everyone to ignore the President's environmental message while Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, suggested Nixon's farm proposals be put out to pasture.

"Since the President and his Cabinet have always asked that they be judged on the basis of what they do, and not on the basis of what they say," said Muskie, author of much of the nation's recent environmental legislation, "I think our most appropriate response to this message is to pretend we never heard it."

And Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Nixon's call for ending farm subsidies "is the final blow in a series of recent decisions by the administration which could destroy our nation's family-farm system."

Nixon, in a special message to Congress Thursday, called for prompt action on 19 backlogged bills he said would enhance the environment and the nation's natural resources.

He declared that antipollution costs should be borne primarily by the consumer, not the federal government.

Muskie described the President's commitment to the environment as shallow and noted his veto of the 1972 Water Pollution Control Act.

The President also refuses to allocate, "in direct violation of the law," funds provided by the act that was passed over his veto, Muskie said.

Nixon called for enactment of measures he proposed in the last Congress which range from safe drinking water to disposal of hazardous wastes.

The President also drew opposition from Talmadge, who said Nixon's farm proposals could spell doom for the small farmer.

"Without some aid in the way of price supports, every small farmer in America would be plowed under," Talmadge said.

Nixon called for eliminating farm subsidies, paying out money only for lands that sit idle.

"I believe that dairy-support systems, wheat, feed grains and cotton allotments and bases—some established decades ago—are drastically outdated. They tend to be discriminatory for many farm operators," Nixon said.

Spectacular Plot Foiled By Jordanian Officials

BEIRUT (UPI) — Jordanian intelligence officials foiled a spectacular guerrilla plot to seize government buildings and cabinet ministers in Amman and assassinate King Hussein when he returned from a trip to the United States, Lebanese newspapers reported today.

The independent newspaper An Nahar said the guerrillas belonged to the "Black September" organization which staged the attack on Israeli Olympic athletes in Munich last September.

An Nahar described the plot as "the most daring guerrilla operation against an Arab capiital to date."

It said the guerrillas planned to seize Premier Ahmad Lawzi and his ministers Saturday as they attended a weekly cabinet meeting. They also planned to occupy the premier's office and radio and television buildings.

The guerrillas then planned to demand the release of hundreds of guerrillas held in Jordanian jails, An Nahar said.

The reports were not confirmed officially in Amman.

But the Jordanian interior ministry said Thursday night:

"During the past few days, security authorities arrested a number of people who had infiltrated into Jordan with the aim of carrying out acts harmful to the security of the state."

The statement said police seized weapons and documents from those arrested.

The pro-Palestinian commando newspaper Al Yom said plotters intended to kill Hussein and overthrow his government when the king returns home—probably next week.

Jordanian intelligence officials arrested an undisclosed number of the guerrillas who entered Jordan in the guise of tourists from Persian Gulf states.

The Beirut reports said the plot attempt explained why Hussein decided to return directly to Jordan from the United States instead of making a planned stopover in London for talks there.

An Nahar said reports of the number of guerrillas involved in the plot ranged from 30 to 120. It said at least 16 were reported arrested.
